

Andrea Rivadulla Duró

Carrer Martí 117, 1st, 2nd. 08024 Barcelona
(Barcelona).

Phone: +00 34 607 523 320

andrea.rivadulla@gmail.com

Education

2017 (currently): PhD in Philosophy of Mind.

LOGOS Research Group in Analytic Philosophy (UB – Universitat de Barcelona)

- Topic of the thesis: Contemporary problems concerning imagination and its interaction with other faculties.
- Supervisor: David James Lobina (University of Barcelona & Oxford University) and Josep Macià (University of Barcelona) Tutor: Manuel García-Carpintero.

2016-2017: Master's degree in Analytic Philosophy (With Honors)

UB - University of Barcelona.

2010-2014: Bachelor's degree in Philosophy.

UB - Universitat de Barcelona

2012-2016: Bachelor's degree in Psychology.

UAB - Universitat Autònoma de Barcelona.

- 2013: Specialization in Adult Clinical Psychology.
- 2014: Specialization in Child and Adolescent Clinical Psychology.
- Final dissertation on Artificial Intelligence (With Honors)

Actual employment

- 2018 (July-currently): FPI PhD training scholarship of the Spanish Ministry of Education attached to the project "The Significance of First-Personal attitudes", directed by Manuel García-Carpintero.
- 2019 (2nd semester): Teacher assistant of the subject "Philosophy of language II" at the University of Barcelona.

Research Interests

My main research interests concern the fields of Philosophy of Mind and Philosophy of Psychology. I'm currently working on the functioning of the imagination and its impact on human actions, emotions and beliefs, with special emphasis in the interactions and overlaps between memory and imagination.

Funding and awards

- 2019: Scholarship conceded by the Leverhulme Project “What’s so special about First-Person thought?”, to do a Research visit at the Institut Jean Nicod (ENS) in Paris, under the auspice of François Recanati.
- 2016-2017: General and mobility scholarships for University Studies for the 2016-2017 academic year. Spanish Ministry of Education, Culture and Sports.
- 2016: Scholarship for the realization of the course "Self-fiction: trick or trap?" Menéndez Pelayo University (Santander, Spain).
- 2014-2015: Residence Scholarship during the 2014-2015 academic year at the Antonio Gala Foundation for Young Creators (Córdoba, Spain).
- 2013-2014: General and mobility scholarships for University Studies for the course 2013-2014. Spanish Ministry of Education, Culture and Sports.
- 2010: Second prize in the category of Story in the Maria Agustina Literary Awards.
- 2008: Prize Josep Pernaut of journalistic story.

Skills

Languages: Spanish and Catalan: native speaker; English; high level both written and spoken (2015: Cambridge Advanced in English (CAE)); Italian: Basic level spoken.

Administrative & Organizational:

- 2018- currently: Co-organizer of the LOGOS Colloquium and Symposia; weekly talks by invited speakers and LOGOS members in which work in progress is presented and discussed.
- 2018- currently: Author, with Alfonso García Lapeña, of the Carta Informativa de Filosofia, monthly newsletter which groups and promotes the participation in activities related with philosophy taking place in Catalunya.

Other merits

- Double specialization in Psychology (Clinical in adults and Clinical in Child and Adolescents).
- Five subjects with high honor in the Master in Analytic Philosophy (Philosophy of language, Philosophy of mind, Philosophy of action, Philosophy of cognitive sciences, Debates in contemporary theoretical philosophy).